

Harry's Stone Grill

MADISON, INDIANA

In the river town of Madison, Harry's Stone Grill offers something refreshingly straightforward: good food, generous portions, and a setting that feels relaxed and unmistakably local.

From the moment you walk in, you know this isn't a white-tablecloth experience — and that's part of its charm. The dining room leans casual and comfortable, with a rustic feel and mounted wildlife displays that give it a lodge-like atmosphere. It's the kind of place where families gather after ball games, friends meet for dinner, and visitors settle in after a day exploring Madison's historic downtown.

The menu focuses on American favorites done well. Steaks are a standout, cooked to order and served with classic sides. You'll also find seafood selections, hearty burgers, sandwiches, and salads — options that make it easy for everyone at the table to find something they enjoy. Portions are satisfying, and the flavors are familiar in the best way.

Harry's fits Madison's personality perfectly. This is a community known for its riverfront views, historic architecture, and welcoming small-town feel. Restaurants like Harry's play an important role in that fabric — offering a gathering place where celebrations, casual dinners, and everyday conversations unfold.

As we highlight local flavor across our service territory, Harry's Stone Grill is a reminder that great dining doesn't have to be flashy. Sometimes, it's simply about consistency, comfort, and a place where you feel at home.

If you're spending time in Madison, it's worth stopping in. Come hungry — and expect a meal that delivers exactly what it promises.
