

Girls Inc.

of Jefferson County, IN

Since 1972, Girls Inc. of Jefferson County, IN has been lighting the path for girls in our community through out-of-school programs—both in their center and through outreach—that offer safe environments and life-changing experiences. It's all built around one goal: empowering girls to grow up strong, smart, and bold.

A Holistic, Proven Approach

As an affiliate of the national Girls Inc. network, Girls Inc. of Jefferson County integrates six essential elements:

- Girls-only environments
- Dedicated mentoring relationships
- Intentional programming tailored for girls' needs
- Research-based curricula
- Interactive, engaging activities
- Sustained exposure over time

This comprehensive "Girls Inc. Experience" ensures participants receive the emotional, educational, and social support they need to thrive.

The Numbers That Inspire

Their outcomes speak volumes about the difference they're making:

- 89% of girls report being physically active in the past week.
- 90% believe they will graduate from college.
- 83% feel confident they can use what they know to solve "real-life" community problems.

These figures showcase how Girls Inc. is helping build a generation of confident, educated, and community-minded leaders.

Operation RoundUp and Your Impact

Through the Operation RoundUp program, SEI REMC members are investing in more than just support—they're investing in futures. Your contributions help Girls Inc.:

- Deliver programming that addresses girls' physical, academic, and social-emotional needs
- Fund mentorship and outreach to provide sustained support in safe, girls-only environments
- Create opportunities for girls to build confidence, leadership skills, and mental well-being

By spotlighting Girls Inc. this month, we celebrate how co-op connections in action—through member generosity—are nurturing local leaders who are strong, smart, and bold.
