Powering Opportunity for the Next Generation

At Southeastern Indiana REMC, supporting our community means investing in the people who will shape its future. Through education, leadership, creativity, and hands-on learning opportunities, we're proud to offer and support programs that help young people grow, learn, and connect.

From scholarships and educational trips to creative contests and youth development programs, these opportunities reflect our cooperative commitment to building strong communities — now and for generations to come. Don't miss your chance to participate or take advantage of these programs for the young people in your life.

4-H PROGRAM

SEI REMC supports youth involved in 4-H by reimbursing enrollment fees (up to $20 per participant) for eligible members. This program helps encourage hands-on learning, leadership development, and community involvement.

Eligibility:

- Participant must live in the SEI REMC service territory
- Parent or legal guardian must be an active SEI REMC member

Applications accepted: Now – July 31, 2026

COOPERATIVE STUDENT ART CONTEST

The Cooperative Student Art Contest invites K–12 students to showcase their creativity. First-place winners in each grade level receive $100, and honorable mentions receive $50. Winning artwork may be featured in Indiana Connection and displayed at the annual meeting in Indianapolis.

Submission deadline: February 27, 2026

Submit artwork: www.seiremc.com/cooperativeartcontest

SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year, SEI REMC awards three $500 scholarships to eligible graduating seniors pursuing post-secondary education. All eligible applicants are entered into a drawing held in April.

Requirements:

- Parent or legal guardian must be an SEI REMC member
- Applicant must be a graduating senior
- Must enroll full-time in post-secondary education in the fall
