

SAVINGS Simplified

FRESH YEAR. SMART POWER.

Stay prepared and save more with SEI REMC's Generator Program.

When Indiana winter weather arrives, reliable backup power becomes more important than ever. SEI REMC's Generator Program gives members an affordable and dependable way to keep their homes comfortable during outages—while also earning load control incentives and saving money throughout the year.

Through this program, members receive a discount on a Generac home standby generator when purchasing through SEI REMC, along with professional installation support from our certified technicians. Once enrolled, your generator will automatically activate during extreme peak periods when SEI REMC initiates a load control event—helping reduce strain on the electric grid while keeping your home powered without interruption.

Members who participate also receive ongoing load control incentives, making the program a smart investment in both reliability and long-term savings. Whether it's winter storms, summer heat waves, or unexpected outages, a whole-home generator offers peace of mind all year long, ensuring your essential appliances, systems, and electronics stay running no matter what.

Start the year with a smarter approach to home reliability and energy savings. Discover how it works at seiremc.com/generatorprogram.
