

COZY SEASON, HOT WATER, COOL REBATES

Enjoy the comfort of reliable hot water and energy savings this fall.

As the air turns crisp and the leaves begin to fall, comfort becomes more important than ever. While sweaters and blankets may keep you warm on the outside, reliable hot water brings comfort to your daily routines inside the home. From warm morning showers to washing dishes after family dinners, hot water is something you depend on every single day.

That's why now is the perfect season to consider upgrading your water heater. An older or less efficient model can use more energy than necessary, raising your utility bills without giving you the efficiency and performance you deserve. By choosing an energy-efficient option, such as a heat pump water heater or a Wi-Fi enabled electric water heater, you can enjoy the convenience of modern technology while also reducing your household's energy use.

At SEI REMC, we're here to help make that upgrade more affordable. Our Water Heater Rebate Program rewards members who invest in efficient models designed to deliver long-lasting comfort and energy savings. Heat pump water heaters are among the most efficient on the market, and Wi-Fi enabled units allow you to control and monitor your water heating from your smartphone — giving you savings and convenience at your fingertips.

Fall is a season of preparation, and upgrading your water heater is one way to get your home ready for the colder months ahead. Not only will you enjoy dependable hot water all season long, but you'll also take an important step toward lowering energy costs and creating a more sustainable future.

Upgrade today and take advantage of rebates for SEI REMC members. Visit seiremc.com/waterheaterrebate to explore qualifying models, learn about rebate details, and submit your application. Make this fall the season you cozy up to reliable hot water and smart savings.
