

MORE THAN POWER

THE HIDDEN PERKS OF YOUR REMC MEMBERSHIP

At Southeastern Indiana REMC, being a member-owner means more than just service—it means value, ownership and community.

Member-Ownership & Local Control

As a member of our Cooperative, you aren't just a customer—you own a part of it. That gives you a voice in decisions, including voting for the Board of Directors and influencing local policy. Because we operate on a not-for-profit basis, any excess margins aren't sent to distant shareholders—they're reinvested into service, infrastructure, and returned to members as capital credits.

Value-Added Programs & Member-Savings Opportunities

Your membership brings access to rebates for energy efficiency, usage-management tools, and community grants. These opportunities help you gain more value and control out of your electric service.

Commitment to Community & Service Excellence

Because we're local and member-driven, our mission goes beyond keeping the lights on. Your membership supports job creation, local economic development and community programs. Cooperatives like ours focus on reliability, affordability and investing in our area.

What You Can Do Today

- Visit our website and check the Programs & Services section to see what rebates or savings you can apply for this year.
- Ask about energy-efficiency and usage-management tools you might not be using yet.
- Stay involved: the annual meeting will be virtual again in 2026, so be sure to participate, vote in board elections, and stay informed—your membership voice matters.

Your membership in Southeastern Indiana REMC isn't just about power—it's about value, ownership and community. Thank you for being part of the Cooperative family.
