

INTRODUCING

CO-OP KIDS CLUB

Did you know your cooperative is more than wires, poles, and programs? At its heart, Southeastern Indiana REMC is about people—and that includes the youngest members of our cooperative family.

We're excited to officially reintroduce the Co-op Kids Club, a new monthly program designed to help grade-school children and their families learn, create, and connect with their local co-op.

When does it start—and where will we meet?

The Co-op Kids Club will launch in March and meet the first Thursday of each month, from 6–7 p.m., in the REMC Community Room.

Who can attend?

The Co-op Kids Club is open to children in grades 1–6. Space may be limited to ensure a safe, hands-on experience for everyone.

HOW TO REGISTER

Registration will be available on the SEI REMC website, with details shared ahead of the March kickoff. Families are encouraged to register in advance to reserve a spot.

We look forward to welcoming kids and families to the REMC Community Room starting in March and growing our cooperative community—one activity, one lesson, and one connection at a time.

What can families expect?

Each monthly gathering will include:

- A hands-on craft or activity kids can take home
- A short, age-appropriate safety reminder, focused on topics like electrical safety, seasonal hazards, or outdoor awareness
- A simple snack, such as cookies and juice boxes
- Time to connect with other cooperative families in a relaxed, welcoming setting

The goal is to keep things fun, engaging, and easy for families to add to their schedules—without overcomplicating the evening.

Why a Co-op Kids Club?

Strong cooperatives are built on connection, and that connection starts early. The Co-op Kids Club is designed to:

- Introduce children to their local electric cooperative in a positive, memorable way
- Reinforce important safety messages through hands-on learning
- Build community among young families in our service area
- Encourage engagement with the cooperative beyond the monthly bill

By investing in our youngest members, we're helping create familiarity, trust, and a sense of belonging that can last for generations.
