

STREAMING WITHOUT THE STRESS

DITCH CABLE, NOT YOUR FAVORITE SHOWS

Cutting the cord doesn't mean cutting off your favorite channels or shows. For many, the idea of switching from cable or satellite TV to streaming services can feel overwhelming. But with a little guidance, you'll see that streaming is not only simple and affordable, it's also flexible and personalized to your needs.

WHAT IS STREAMING?

Streaming is the delivery of video content over the internet in real time. That means you can watch shows, movies or live TV through apps like Netflix, Hulu, YouTube TV or Sling without needing a cable or satellite subscription. With SEI Fiber, buffering is a thing of the past thanks to fast, reliable internet that supports multiple users and devices at once.

WHY MAKE THE SWITCH?

Many members are finding that they can save money and gain more control by streaming. You can:

- Choose only the services and channels you want
- Pause or cancel subscriptions at any time
- Watch on smart TVs, streaming devices, tablets or phones
- Access both live and on-demand content

STREAMING DEVICES MADE SIMPLE

If your TV isn't already a smart TV, devices like Roku, Amazon Fire Stick, Apple TV or Google Chromecast plug into your TV and connect to the internet. They allow you to download apps that act like channels, where you can log in to your favorite services.

YOU'VE GOT THIS

Streaming doesn't have to be intimidating. With just a few steps, you can replace your traditional TV service with an option that's tailored to your preferences and your budget. SEI Fiber delivers the speed and reliability you need to make the most of your streaming experience—whether you're watching the local news, a live sports game or your favorite binge-worthy series.
